"GINGLES JINGLES"

GAME LOSER.

Just be a game loser. Don't howl when you're stung. Let no one get wise to the fact you got hung. They don't care a rap, all they'll do is to talk, and say serves him right, he was always a gawk. The lid for your trouble and put it down hard. Let nothing get by your most vigilant guard. You can if you will face the music and say, There's no one more happy than I am today. We all have our troubles, but mine I forget. I don't harbor worries. I've no rooms to let. There's someone at home all the time every day. I'm wise to my cue and I know how to play. I'm shy on the dollars. I've no coach and four, but jitties are plentiful right at the door. I care not for either the way that I feel. I'm healthy and strong on the pedalmobile. Let those take it easy who want to get sick. I'd rather work hard and be there with the kick. I'll not make a murmur or loosen my grip, no matter how far down the ladder I slip. I'll take a new hold, never minding the drop, and make a bee line again straight for the top.

The editor as a general rule is in favor of bonds but not at the present time or under present conditions, because he feels like it would be a useless waste of money until something definite is vouchsafed.

If the legislature was afraid to trust the people then we are afraid to trust its choice with a bond issue

There is going to be a desperate effort made to carry this bond issue and we sound a warning to all those who feel an interest in the matter to get busy and open their eyes.

Bosh on such stuff as making it appear that one is not patriotic and progressive if he fails to vote bonds at every crack of the whip. There is a limit to extravagance in one direction; it's time to call a halt and see where we are at and then proceed intelligently. The old rut leads to the same end as heretofore. Let's get on the right track and do something definite.

The government is out shark hunting due to the presence of so many sharks in the North Atlantic waters. Already several people have been killed by the man-eating sharks and the people at these sea side resorts are afraid to go in bathing until they can be assured that the sharks have been driven away or killed.

The inconsistency of it all! Asking the property owners to vote bonds and pay their part of the expense yearly and then in the next breath saying to those property owners, you must pay two thirds of the cost of fixing the roads in front of your property and we (the city) will pay our one third. The property owner paid the entire cost of the side walks and now he must pay two-thirds of the cost of the streets. After a while, if this thing keeps up the property owners will have to pay for breathing—in fact he about does this now—as he pays for about everything else you can mention

Not Sincere in the Matter

We met a fellow the other day who said he though he would vote for bonds but that he would not sign any petition to pay one third of the cost of fixing the street in front of his property and this fellow lived on one of the main streets, too. What do you think of such a proposition as this? Here's a fellow who would help get the money to fix some of the streets, yet after the money is available he would not help the city to spend it, because the bond issue is for that very purpose—the city paying its one-third of the cost and not a cent would be spent without the abutting property owners pay their two-thirds. Such a fellow should not vote at all if this is the way he reasons the matter, but really bond elections are carried by just such parties; people who are not consistent, non-property owners and the like. By this we mean the necessary vote to carry is cast by such fellows. Of course there are many who will vote for bonds that are consistent, just as those who vote against them.

A Still Hunt

Those favoring bonds are conducting a still hunt and registering those who are in favor of bonds and it is imperative that those against the measure register also if they want to see the election result as they feel about the matter. Register anyway, however you desire to vote, this is the duty given you as an American citizen. This is your town and you should have your say. If you don't exercise your prerogatives then you should have nothing to say about the result of the election, no matter how it turns out. Register today, tomorrow may be too late.

Untrammelled.

We have no hesitancy in saying that the time has come when the independent newspaper can render a greater service to the people than the party "organ." The newspaper that swears fealty to a political party to the point where it accepts the dictum of party leaders and espouses whatever they say espouses is not in a position to serve the people. Fidelity to party lines and party leaders strips the newspaper of its liberty, blunts it to the sins and errors of politics, and makes the editor's mouth a mere speaking piece of others. Expression is curbed, thought is silenced, and action is dictated. The newspaper man that would truly serve the people must not be tied—it must be free, untrammelled and unsubsidized. It must be in a position to criticize, to hold up the flag of warning or to rebel against the injustice and unrighteousness of party action where the right and welfare of the people are concerned. For, after all, party leaders are nothing but human beings, and as susceptible to error as other men. And, too, party leaders have been known to possess selfishness. Some of them are little beneath bloodsuckers, whose chief thought is to live, not by the sweat of their own brows, but by the sweat of others.—Lexington Herald.

NEPTUNE DOFFS HAT TO GERMANIA

On Monday morning the great dailies of the U. S. contained the startling news that the huge German super-submarine whose heralded coming had occasioned much speculation, had arrived on Sunday morning at 1:20 o'clock off Cape Henry. Carrying 1,000 tons of dyestuffs, the dire need for which is felt more keenly in this country with each passing day, this latest and greatest vessel of Father Neptune made the trip of 4200 miles, 1800 of it under water, in only 16 days. Whether you see justice only in the ally cause or are firm in your convictions that the Teutonic principle is right or just, all will have to admit that German foresight and ingenuity stands on a plane where mere mortals dare not tread. Germans have in this present struggle made Jules Verne's novel of imagination an actual reality, they have reduced to naught the time-honored iron cordon (superiority of blockade) Britain's mighty armada, and in a manner brilliantly realistic. Mighty ironclads are destined to prove like so many little sweet peas, the submarine has upset laws and traditions, both international, pertaining to belligerents, maritime relating to vessels of commerce. Although rumors of the coming of the "Deutschland" have been heard, no credence was placed on such reports, but again is wonderful efficiency and business determination of the German Empire placed to the foreground, Teutonia's men do not boast and predict; while delving amid the fables of Rhineland they may pause to gain courage, but the finger of progress never points toward Heli-goland and the Schwartzwald; until some new wonder springs forth full panoplied to startle and amaze the world. Such is the finger of genius, admiration for "the order" is but due.

In all High Point has sent 26 new recruits to Camp Glenn making the High Point Company now stand at 115 qualified men, close to the full war strength of 142 men. This is the best average in the state and Lieutenant Armstrong and Corporal Burton are to be congratulated on their fine showing. The High Pointers are well fixed and satisfied, says Capt. Zollicoffer, who was here on a visit Sunday and Monday.

Dr. Gilbert Rowe's talk on "True Liberty" at Wesley Memorial M. E. church Sunday night was a gem. After defining the various kinds of liberty he exclaimed that the only true liberty was bestowed by God.

A negro boy about 20 years of age entered the home of R. B. Terry in Roland Park Thursday afternoon and walked into the room where Mrs. Terry was resting. Failing to give the reasons for his presence Mrs. Terry threatened to shoot whereupon the negro left and has not been seen since. Evidently the negro was a sneak thief who thought the members the household were away.

The Review has become a patron of Knights of Dunlap Signet Stars for the reason that it can reward every child in a substantial manner for work done in its behalf. The old time subscription contest has been thrown into the junk pile. It left a bad taste in the mouth. It taught no valuable lessons, it encouraged no child to higher living.

But the Jubilee teaches children noble principles, rewards them definitely for their work and leaves no disappointments and tears.
